

Project Management

Effective project management is at the heart of any project.

Effective project management is at the heart of any successful project. When projects fail – it is most likely from scope creep, missing vital deadlines or failing to keep within budget. If your business is going to implement a new system or change within the organisation – our project managers could be exactly what you need.

Our Project Management service includes:

Documentation and project control

Project governance is everything! Guiding you through a proven implementation model, implementing the appropriate controls and providing you with the tools you need through set templates and guidelines.

Workshops and project scope

Each project will involve stakeholders and require workshops to define the scope. Managing these can be difficult but is an essential component to ensure your project scope does not start creeping before you have even started.

Testing and Preparation for go-live!

Before the project is implemented, we test and test again! Only by doing so can we check everything is ok and the end-result is going to be as expected.

Why Embridge?

Our successful projects speak for themselves. We are judged on the service we provide and delivering projects on-time and to budget is key to our success. Over many years we've worked with different types of organisations ranging from large-scale commercial & global professional services businesses, not for profit institutions to varying public service organisations. It's our breadth of knowledge and experience that gives us lessons learned and techniques to know what makes a project successful.

What our customers say:

"Emma O' Brien and Embridge Consulting have been integral to the successful implementation of THT's new integrated Agresso Finance and HR system. Emma's project management skills coupled with her in depth knowledge of the Agresso software have been invaluable. Emma and her team quickly gained an understanding of our charity and thus were able to design an integrated system that would work for the charity. Emma is a great people person...she is able to motivate and manage within a very tight control environment. Embridge Consulting delivered for us on time and on budget."
